Ekathimerini (25 September 2024)

Prime Minister Kyriakos Mitsotakis has asserted that the strengthening ties between Greece and the United States will remain unaffected by the result of the upcoming presidential election. Mitsotakis, who is in New York for the UN Security Council meeting, made his remarks during a diaspora event in Astoria, which is home to a vibrant Greek-American community.

At the time when the world is faced with very complicated global challenges, Greece is a pillar of stability and prosperity in a very turbulent part of the world, Mitsotakis said.
