The Greek Air Force has received a new Rafale fighter jet, completing its acquisition of 24 of the French-made aircraft.

The single-seat jet, which bears the serial number 457, landed at the 114th Combat Wing in Tanagra air base shortly after 1 p.m., after a non-stop flight from Mérignac in Bordeaux, and was handed over to the 332nd Squadron.

This particular Rafale belongs to the second □ supplementary □ contract, which increased the Air Forces stock of the jets from 18 to 24.
