Azerbaijan and Armenia's border delimitation commissions convened for their 11th meeting, state media reported Thursday.

The discussions, held at the border between the two countries, were chaired by Azerbaijan's Deputy Prime Minister Shahin Mustafayev and Armenia's Deputy Prime Minister Mher Grigoryan, Azerbaijani state-run Azertac reported, citing a statement on the results of the meeting.

The meeting focused on advancing efforts to define and demarcate the border between the two nations.
