The Straits Times (17 April 2025)

China will next week convene an informal United Nations Security Council meeting to accuse the US of bullying and casting a shadow over the global efforts for peace and development by weaponising tariffs.

The move comes as Beijing pursues a hardline stance in an escalating trade war with Washington triggered by US President Donald Trumps steep tariffs on items imported from China.

All countries, particularly developing nations, are victims of unilateralism and bullying practices, read the concept note for the informal UN meeting on the impact of unilateralism and bullying practices on international relations.
