23 January 2013 News.am Armenians do not consider any nation, including Azerbaijan, an enemy □ President Sargsyan says. Armenians do not consider any nation, including Azerbaijan, their enemy, President Serzh Sargsyan said during a campaign event in Goris, Syunik Region. Such assertion can be made looking back at Armenias thousand-year history. □□□□□□ if someone calls us an enemy, we are ready to resist, A he said, adding that the Syunik Region located in Armenias south witnessed hardship and losses of war. □□□□□□ and arms race is one of the main challenges to form future political agenda. Neighbors attempts to solve problems using force and threats are a real challenge to peaceful future of the regional nations and we will reject this. Programs aimed at Armenias isolation cannot contribute to regional development. We will continue our considerable contribution to ensuring mutual confidence in the region, A Sargsyan noted. Armenia will also exert effort to maintain combat readiness of the armed forces.
